Our policies on modern slavery and human trafficking

Superior Wellness Limited is committed to driving acts of modern slavery out of the workplace. The directors of the company acknowledge their responsibilities under the Modern Slavery Act 2015 to implement and enforce effective controls to ensure slavery and human trafficking does not exist within the company or its supply chain. Our processes will ensure transparency within the company and its suppliers.

The company's directors take the responsibility for implementing this policy seriously and shall make best endeavours to ensure that slavery and human trafficking is not taking place within the organisation or our supply chain.

Due diligence processes for slavery and human trafficking

Our supply chains are limited, and we procure goods and services from a restricted range of UK and overseas suppliers. Within the supply chain process, it is important that our staff establish strong working relationships with the suppliers of these products.

As part of our ongoing supplier due diligence, We continue to monitor the factories manufacturing our products, including the issues associated with modern day slavery as well as other social and ethical issues.

We expect that our supply chain contacts will respect our stance on modern slavery and will act in the same ethical manner. Superior Wellness Limited will not support or deal with any business knowingly involved in slavery or human trafficking.

We do not enter into business with any organisation, in the UK or abroad, which knowingly supports or is found to be involved in slavery, servitude and forced or compulsory labour.

Employment

Our recruitment and people management processes are designed to ensure that all prospective employees are legally entitled to work in the UK and to safeguard employees from any abuse or coercion. The company operates a fair recruitment process, which includes checks on all new employees to ensure they are eligible to work.

The company is committed to creating and ensuring a non-discriminatory and respectful working environment for all of our employees. We want all our employees to feel confident that they can expose wrongdoing without any risk to themselves. We have a whistleblowing policy, which is published on our website.
